OTHER UNDERWATER LIFE

The most common species encountered during the diving experiences are carrousel of jackfish hunting small prey, as well as trigger and surgeon fishes found in smaller reefs. During the early morning, eagle rays, small sharks and turtles can also be spotted.

One of the most famous dive sites in this area is Orimas Thila, a cleaning station for grey reef sharks, where guests can see up to four different shark species in one dive: whitetip, grey reef, guitar and leopard-shark. Moreover, eagle rays, barracudas, jackfish and tunas make frequent appearances at this dive site.

DIVING EXCURSIONS

For beginners and experienced divers, we recommend the finest sites in Noonu Atoll or beyond, teeming with exotic marine life.

Here are some of our preferred dive sites:

SHARK POINT (50 MINUTES FROM RANDHELI)

This Thila makes dreams come true. The top reef of the North-side of the Thila starts at 14 m. and drops off steep to a sandy bottom. When the current comes from the North-West side, you can observe large barracudas staying motionless into the current or hunting when the opportunity comes.

CHRISTMAS ROCK (40 MINUTES FROM RANDHELI)

One of the most precious Thilas in Noonu Atoll. It rises up from a 30 m. deep sandy bottom. It is named this way because the profile of the reef looks like a Christmas tree the top at 14 m. It has deep and shallow overhangs at the bottom with multiple layers.

DIVING EXCURSIONS

SKIPJACK DIVE (35 MINUTES FROM RANDHELI BY SPEEDBOAT)

A sunken shipyard, this is an incomparable diving spot with two wreckages on a single diving site. The Skipjack 1 and 2 have been stretching out within this site ever since the early 80's and they are now emblazoned with brilliantly coloured soft and hard coral reefs.

KUREDU EXPRESS (25 MINUTES FROM RANDHELI BY SPEEDBOAT)

Kuredu Express is one of the most famous dive sites in Lhaviyani Atoll. This site gets its name from the strong currents that can flow here. There is a sandy channel leading to the corner of the reef, which reveals terraces at different depths – a great place to stop and watch the action.
